Steven Fawkes & Colin Christie: ITE: Conversation in the classroom

This talk will explore in different ways the important issues around speaking in the languages classroom raised by OFSTED in 2011. Steven Fawkes will introduce some important issues and questions, and stimulate some speaking in the audience. (Bring a partner!) Colin Christie will use recent research findings to explore factors which can make spontaneous conversation in the languages classroom possible. Examples of pupils conversing spontaneously in French will be given. It will be suggested that it is possible to create an ethos in the classroom which sets the expectation that pupils will communicate in the target language. This will be referred to as creating a "target language lifestyle."
