Everyone tells us
we should do
more, but no one
tells us HOW!
Where do I start?

Everyone tells us
we should do more TL, but no one tells
us HOW!
Where do I start?

The pupils complain
they can't understand what I'm saying!

Everyone tells us
we should do more TL, but no one tells
us HOW!
Where do I start?

The pupils say they
can't understand
what I'm saying!

I'm afraid my French
won't be good enough...

Everyone tells us
we should do more TL, but no one tells
us HOW!
Where do I start?

There's not enough time!
It takes me all my time
just to cover
the syllabus!

The pupils say they
can't understand
what I'm saying!

I'm afraid my French
won't be good enough...

Everyone tells us
we should do more TL, but no one tells
us HOW!
Where do I start?

There's not enough time!
It takes me all my time
just to cover
the syllabus!

The pupils say they
can't understand
what I'm saying!

...and, it's not tested
anyway, is it?

I'm afraid my French
won't be good enough...

A situational approach

1. IDENTIFY, with students, a situation that occurs regularly and where there is a genuine need or wish to communicate. Discuss what language they already know that can be used to meet, or partially meet, the situation.

2. TEACH any 'missing language'. Model use of known and new language. Explain any new structures. Ensure students know what they are saying.

3. PRACTISE until all understand and are comfortable with language and structures.

4. Thereafter, teacher and students USE THE LANGUAGE FOR REAL on each occasion that the situation recurs.

5. Later: REVIEW, REFINE, EXPAND. Ask students to suggest variations that follow a similar pattern, and show them how they extend the pattern to cover new but related situations. Give credit for creative use of language patterns.

- ▣ ... learners' motivation for language learning would be better protected through activities that promote meaningful communication ...
- ▣ ... activities that motivate learners the most – those based on interaction, creativity, cultural contact and purposeful communication

- ▣ ...forms encountered/used frequently will be easier to learn... how much regular practice will learners get?
- ▣ ... strong bonds with the relevant articles
- ▣ ... an approach that involves a lot of practice with strong form-meaning links will help to overcome lack of fluency

- ▣ Familiarity with a wide range of expressions provides a realistic core of language from which to draw examples for grammatical study.
